

The Choral Society at the Coromandel Valley Rotary Club Annual Dinner, March 6th.

RETURNING A FAVOUR:

The Rotary Club of Coromandel Valley has assisted the Choral Society by donating funds raised from two of their weekly barbecues at the Blackwood Shopping Centre.

This little concert was our way of saying thanks, and of course, we choral types enjoy singing anyway!

The venue was the Blackwood Country Club restaurant.

Many thanks to Brian Ferris for being our photographer at short notice.

Choral Society member Bill Spraggs (at right), also a Rotary Club member, organised the event.

About 18 choir members put on a fine performance for our Rotary friends. At left, injured President John Mitchell was still able to belt out a lusty tune. Music Director, Lesley did her usual excellent job, despite the challenge of the piano being in an adjoining room.

ALL DONE WITH SMOKE AND MIRRORS.

The piano is in a room alongside the restaurant, which presents difficulties for choir, conductor, and pianist!

Our accompanist, Pauline, managed to keep in time with Music Director Lesley, by the miracle of reflected light, aided by her tenacity, genius, and smile.
